

Would your child benefit from Speech Language Therapy?

Your child may need speech-language therapy if he/she:

- Has a diagnosis of autism or other developmental delays
- Has speech that is difficult to understand
- Does not seem to understand questions or directions
- Cannot express themselves using sentences similar to the peers
- Has a hearing loss
- Did not say words by 12 months
- Does not seem interested in developmentally appropriate play with toys iSpeak Speech Therapy offers speech and language therapy services for children from 3-21 years of age. Servicing those with various diagnoses such as:

- autism
- developmental delays
- receptive language disorders
- apraxia
- motor speech disorders
- hearing loss
- phonological disorders
- articulation disorders
- social/pragmatic language disorders

iSpeak is here to help you! Feel free to reach out with any questions/concerns or schedule an evaluation.
